ASSIGNMENT

1. Declare a structure to store data for student information. The structure contains roll number, name, marks for the student. Write a program to accept information of student from user and print the same.